UPCOMING DEADLINES & IMPORTANT DATES

Feb 24	Production team bios due
Mar 3	Start incorporating props and costumes
March 9	First tech rehearsal
March 20	Opening Night!

General

- The tech rehearsal initially scheduled for Tuesday, March 11th has been canceled due to the special election happening in Roseville.
- Act I will be off book starting tomorrow.
- Laura Wiesner is most likely the person who did the programs. Rachel would have her contact info.

Scenic

- We will need a step on the back of the platform, as some of our adult actors cannot step up that high.

Props

- We would like to paint the lampshade a light pink.
- We will circle back to the discussion on coin bags.
- We will proceed without any props for the constables and decide if we need them later.
- We are going to have one bill equal 50 rubles.
- We will try out using water in the glasses and container this week. They have all been washed.

Costumes

- Kristyn will have costumes coming in soon for Dobchinsky and Bobchinsky. She has already ordered blue ties and red hats. If we dye the ones Kristyn has, we will dye them yellow.
- Can we start storing costumes at RAMS immediately next week?
- Derek will continue to direct costume concerns to Kristyn.
- Derek has jackets for Dobchinsky and Bobchinsky to try on tomorrow.
- For the doctor's government inspector outfit, Derek thinks no jacket is fine with a dress shirt vest. Kristyn was thinking that Josie can wear a wig for the doctor and remove it for the inspector.
- The mustache for the doctor should look very off.
- Derek will source wigs for Astrid to wear as Flagel, the mute boy.
- Kristyn will be the one to source the hat, Hannah is sourcing the hatbox. We would like any hat that we can cut in half and then velcro back together. Derek is thinking a Napoleon hat with a feather in it; they are called bicorne hats.
- If we can store costumes at RAMS next week, it would be in the dressing rooms and Derek would like them to try them on.

- We have decided that Anna does not need a shawl. We would like long gloves to be paired with the pink dress.

Lighting

- No lighting updates at this time. Mike will try to send his bio to Hannah and Haley tonight.

Sound

- We will not be using mics for this show.
